More Opportunities

Many factors work together to impact your fleet's total lifetime cost. When you manage the various spend categories—depreciation, fuel, maintenance, etc.—independently and transactionally, you miss how cutting costs in one place for short-term benefit can drive up costs elsewhere in the long run. Our unique set of integrated automotive services help owners of larger, more complex fleets identify hidden costs and time drains throughout the continuous cycle of buying, driving, servicing, and selling fleet vehicles.

Technology Can Measure Individual Vehicle Performance While Revealing The Full Picture

Complex fleets like yours produce terabytes of useful data about everything from vehicle performance to driver behavior. Our innovative technologies help you to efficiently analyze data to arrive at actionable insights that generate real business value.
